EXTENDE - TrainDE RT

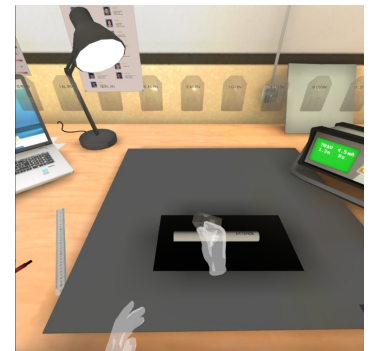

TrainDE RT is a virtual reality based training simulator for industrial radiography which includes a PC version too. The software associated with TrainDE RT contains a database of film results, which reproduces the inspection conditions for numerous applications (welded tubes and plates, cast specimens, X-ray and Gamma tubes, several films...) taking into account the IQI, lead marker letters, and flexible X-ray rulers. Virtual test pieces include welds with perpendicular, ellipse, contact, panoramic techniques, cast parts, and step wedges. Specimens are made of steel, aluminum, titanium or copper. Flaws such as cracks, lack of fusion or penetration, porosity, and inclusions are incorporated into various specimen.

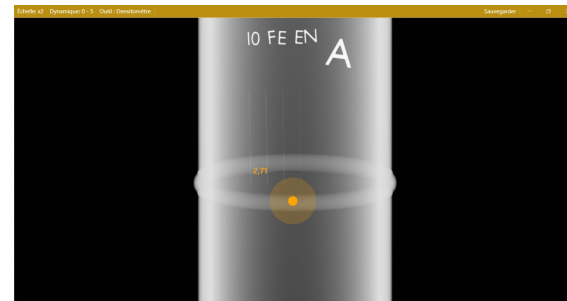

Each exercise is built to include all the preparation phases: choice of film, IQI, and choice, positioning and orientation of the source as well as setting the current and expose time of the shot.

Based on the input parameters, TrainDE RT will create the radiograph corresponding to the shot from a databank of several thousand simulated images.

An optical density value is available for each point to ensure the appropriate darkening of the film.

A report is available directly after the shot to indicate potential errors, such as bad choice of IQI, erroneous physical parameters (voltage, intensity, exposure time, etc.), imposed geometric blur not respected, etc.

TrainDE RT lets the user practice different radiographic setup without access to an x-ray machine or gamma source. Because of this, radiation exposure is zero.

AXIENT - Avalos High School P-Tech NDT Program

This program is described as an NDT development partnership that provides students with industry insight provided by NDT professionals looking to shape the next generation of NDT professionals for our industry. The Avalos Advocate Program is in the early stages of development and requires guidance that will improve student experience, make them more employable, and teach them the soft skills needed to communicate effectively.

Regular program review between the P-Tech coordinator and industry partner Eddie Pompa continue to shape this program through community outreach and industry presentations.

During incoming freshman orientation Eddie Pompa provided hands on opportunities during an introduction to NDT presentation that inspired, provided clarity, and a face within the industry to reach out to.

Experience events provide NDT students with opportunities to work side-by-side with Certified Weld Inspectors (CWI) and certified NDT professionals to perform Visual, Magnetic Particle, Ultrasonic, and Digital Radiography Testing to inspect weld coupons. These weld coupons are part of the Texas High School Welding Circuit where welding students compete for prizes and welding certificates which require NDT. Avalos NDT students gain Experience hours signed off by NDT Level III in the methods used to add to their employment portfolio. Collaboration activities are also part of this program aimed at helping NDT and Weld students improve their skills as they enter the weld competition season. Weld coupons generated by in-district schools are delivered to Avalos where NDT students practice their NDT skills using MT, PT, UT, and ET against industry standards.

Mentorship is an integral part of Eddie's involvement with the student body at Avalos. His presence at these events provides students with the assurance that he is committed toward their success. Eddie has managed to connect with the students at their level in a genuine way that has students across the school talking about the NDT program like never before.
